

For those considering living in municipal housing

About participation in the neighborhood association activities and paying the membership fee

1. Municipal housing is housing where residents manage common areas together with the neighborhood association members.
  - Management of flowerbeds and green spaces
  - Management of garbage collection sites
  - Payment of electricity bills for hallway lighting and elevators
  - Payment of water bills for shared water sources
  - Management of a meeting place, etc. (may differ depending on the neighborhood association)
2. Residents are requested to join the neighborhood association and participate in the activities (duty at a garbage collection site and duty as a group leader in turn, etc.) and pay the neighborhood association membership fee including the management fee for common areas, which is collected by a member of the neighborhood association.

If you are applying for municipal housing, please understand that you must participate in the neighborhood association activities and pay the neighborhood association membership fee.